THE STATE COLLEGE LAND SCRIP.

[From the Portland Press.]

Now that the Legislature has taken action looking to the investigation of the rumors which partisans have circulated the past few years, charging that the state officials who disposed of the land scrip of the Agricultural College were either guilty of fraud or unpardonable neglect in that transaction, a brief history of the matter from beginning to end will be pertinent and interesting.

The XXXVIIth Congress passed an act granting to such states as would establish a school to be known as a "college of agriculture and mechanic arts," a quantity of land, the proceeds of which should constitute a fund, the annual interest of which should be devoted to the salaries of the teachers of such a school and some other purpose. Our Legislature in 1864 accepted the offer of Congress, and thereby entered into a contract to carry out all the conditions of the act. It also chartered an institution, with a board of trustees, provided for a commission to locate the school and perfect a general plan, and authorized the Governor to sell the land scrip. It should be stated in this connection that the year preceding this legislative action, both Bowdoin and Waterville Colleges appeared before the Legislature, the late Prof. Smyth for the former and Mr. Blaine for the latter, offered to take the land appropriation and come under obligation to maintain such a department in connection with their institutions as was contemplated by the act of congress. Mr. Blaine, Gov. Coburn and Gov. Cony all advised that the scrip be turned over to one of the existing colleges as it was at Cornell College in New York, and thereby obviate the necessity of a forced sale of the scrip instead of having the land located and retained until such a time, as it would bring a better price.

The Legislature did not adopt this policy but decided on an independent institution, and, as before stated, directed the sale of the land scrip to the highest bidder. Gov. Cony, in his address to the Legislature of 1865, asked that the responsibility of disposing of the scrip might not "be devolved solely upon the Executive, but that others to be designated by the Legislature should be associated with him in the discharge of the delicate duty." The Legislature left the matter unchanged, and as it was high time that action should be taken in order that the state might avail itself of the grant, December 21, 1865, the sale of land in accordance with the policy indicated by the Legislature of 1864 was advertised. The Legislature of 1866 met a few days later and in his address to that body, Gov. Cony said that the college had not at that time been located; but that "the lands granted for the endowment thereof, have under the advice of the Executive Council, concurred in by the board of trustees, been advertised for sale." November 22, 1865, the trustees of the college addressed a note to Gov. Cony, stating that "it seemed desirable to sell the land scrip at an early day at the best rate it may command." This request is signed by the entire board, including such names as Rev. C. A. Everett, now a Harvard professor, S. F. Goodale, S. F. Perley, Robert Morton and Hanis Moore.

The Legislature being thus advised, Gov. Cony proposed to do, took no step to interfere, indeed public sentiment fully endorsed that course. It has the key of the Legislature. The following official report of the chairman of a committee of the whole council to which the college scrip was referred, contains a succinct and authentic history of transactions of the sale:

STATE OF MAINE.

IN COUNCIL, Dec. 29, 1865.

Committee of the whole Council to whom was referred the subject matter hereof, report.

By chapter 232 of the Laws of 1865, the Governor and Council were authorized to make sale of the Land Scrip assigned to the State of Maine, for the endowment of the College of Agriculture and the Mechanic Arts—that early after the [illegible] of the Legislature the Governor was informally communicated to the trustees of the college a desire that they should associate [illegible] members. I said board to advise in [illegible] such sale. For some reason this was delayed until December, 1865, when a communication was received signed by a majority of trustees advising the sale of the Scrip at an early day at the best rate which it may command, which communication is herewith submitted. Immediately upon the receipt of said communication the Council passed an order, approved by the Governor, directing the Secretary of State to advertise for proposals for the same to be received up to the first day of March then next ensuing in the state paper published at Augusta, in the Boston Daily Advertiser, in the New York Journal of Commerce and the New York Daily and Weekly Tribune, in the Chicago Tribune and the Cincinnati Democrat, which was accordingly done. The following is a copy of the advertisement:

STATE OF MAINE, Executive Department,

Augusta Dec. 21, 1865.

SALE OF UNITED STATES LAND SCRIP.

Proposals will be received till the first day of March by His Excellency Samuel Cony, Governor of the State of Maine, for the purchase of the land scrip issued to said state for the endowment of a college for the benefit of agriculture and the mechanic arts, in quantities not less than ten thousand acres. Terms, cash, payable in lawful money at the office of Treasurer of State of Maine at Augusta, or at the Suffolk National Bank, Boston, in twenty days after notice issued of acceptance of offer. The scrip to be delivered at Augusta. Right to reject proposals is reserved.

All offers will be directed to the address of the Secretary of State, Augusta, Maine, and endorsed on the outside "proposals for Agricultural College Scrip."

EPHRAIM FLINT, Sec'y of State.

On the first day of March, 1866, the Governor and Council proceeded to examine the bids made, which in the aggregate were for 277,350 acres, as will appear by the schedule accompanying this report. The bids varied in amount from ten cents to sixty cents per acre. The bids in several instances, as will be perceived, were in the alternative to take a small amount at a larger price or a larger lot at a smaller price. It was determined, by the board under the right reserved in the advertisement, to reject all bids below fifty-two and one-half cents, and to accept those at and above that sum; the successful bids being for 119,350 acres, and those rejected for 125,000 acres. In as much as the bids allowed, absorbed but little over one-half of the grant, it was deemed for the interest of the state to accept those of the same individuals for the largest quantity of land. [illegible]

The successful bidders were duly notified by the Secretary of State that their offers were accepted by communication sent through the mail. From Chas. Davis of St. Louis, no reply was received. Mr McClure of St. Cloud in consequence of some delay in the mails, did not receive his notice (which was that all his bids being for 15,350 acres were accepted) in due season, in consequence of which he declined to take the scrip, having purchased elsewhere, but made the same offer for forty six pieces being 7,000 acres which was accepted. So that upon the bids as made up to the first day of March, but 99,300 acres of the land were sold. On the 15th of March, Dr. Preston & Co. applied to duplicate their purchase, and on the 20th of the same month, triplicate on the same terms of their purchase, which was agreed to, so that the sale to them amounted to 96,000.

On the 10th of March Wm. K. Lancey proposed to take 15,000 acres and Gov. Franklin Smith 10,000 acres at fifty-three cents per acre, and on the same day John Kimball for himself and others proposed to take 5,000 acres at fifty-three cents. These offers were severally accepted, and the extent of the foregoing sales including the bids of March last which were consummated was [illegible] acres, being as near the quantity bid for as the size of the scrip would permit.

It having been suggested that the trustees of the College were desirous of having a portion of scrip reserved for location, it was decided not to sell but retain the balance subject to the action of the Legislature, and there now remains one hundred and two pieces of Scrip of one hundred and sixty acres each being [illegible] acres in all.

In conformity with the law of the State and the United States there has been purchased Bonds of the State of Maine, bearing interest at the rate of six per cent. per annum, amounting to $104,200, leaving of the principal of the fund uninvested, $194.70. The bonds and balance of the funds aforesaid have been deposited by the Governor with the Treasurer of State as also the sum of $1,505.35 being balance of interest, which last sum is subject to the order of the Treasurer of the trustees of the College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts.

The report is signed by Hon. Hiram Ruggles, Chairman of the Executive Council for that year.

The following are the names of the parties to whom sales of scrip were made March 1 and 15, 1866 the number of acres which they purchased, the price per acre and the total amount received, as taken from the official papers in the Secretary of State's office:

	Acres	Price	Amount
C. & G. Woodman.	63,000	52½c	$31,500
D. Preston & Co.	96,000	53	51,000
M. McClure.	7,000	53	4,410
	163,000		$[illegible],916
W. K. Lancey.	15,000	53c	$7,950
Franklin Smith	10,000	"	5,300
John Kimball	5,000	"	2,650
	30,000		$15,000

The following is a complete list of all the bidders:

A. Walt, El Paso, Illinois. Davi l Preston & Co., Detroit, Michigan, James Fragoin & Co., Valley Grove, Ohio, F. R. Clark, Bangor, Charles Davis, St. Louis, Mo., F. Lousada, Boston, Mass., Thomas McClure, St. Cloud, Minn., Almeron Tripp, Albion, Orleans Co., N. Y., Lyman Warren, Burlington, La Fayette Co., Mo., C. & G. Woodman, 62 Wall St., N. Y., Bangor Land Co., Bangor, Franklin Smith, Waterville, William K. Lancey, Pittsfield, James Frazier, Wheeling, W. Va., John Kimball, Bangor, N. Wilson, Orono.

The balance of the land was not sold until September 20, 1870—more than four and a half years after the first sales. The sale was made by Gov. Chamberlain, and Hon. William Deering of this city, then a member of the Executive Council. The following letter from Gov. Chamberlain to State Treasurer Caldwell fully explains the transaction:

BRUNSWICK, June 21, 1870.

Hon. Wm. Caldwell, State Treasurer.

MY DEAR SIR:—Herewith please find Mr. G. F. Lewis' letter. We have concluded a bargain, the most advantageous possible, with him for eighty-four cents per acre, amounting to $13,708 [illegible]. He wants the college scrip assigned, etc. I do not understand the process and send the letter to you. If necessary I will come up and see you.

Truly yours, J. L. CHAMBERLAIN.

Thus it will be seen that the college land scrip amounting to 210,000 acres was sold for $115,524 80, which soon with the accrued interest when invested amounted to $118,394 47, yielding the college an annual revenue of $7080.

Such is a brief history of the sale of the land scrip donated to Maine in aid of a college where practical sciences may be taught. In addition to the above it may be added, first, that the price obtained for the scrip by Maine officials was as large as that obtained by any other state selling at the same time; second, that the price of single land warrants for 160 acres was not over $100 at the time of the earlier sales, and, third, had the state kept the land scrip and sold it without location at the best time since that date, not over ninety cents an acre could have been realized under the conditions of the act of Congress. It would have been possible to have retained the whole of the scrip until the best of times. In 1870, when the country had recovered from the immediate effects of the war, Gov. Chamberlain declared that eighty-four cents an acre was the "best possible price" that could be obtained. In 1866, when the first sales were made, there was pending in Congress a bounty land bill which proposed to give every soldier of the late war or his heir, a quarter section of land. There was a prospect that this bill would become a law, in the event of which over 500,000,000 acres of land would be thrown upon the market, reducing the price to mere nothing. This accounts for the urgency of the sale and doubtless had a depressing effect upon the market.

But it is said, that other states got five or six times as much for their land scrip. This is partially true. In New York, for instance, Hon. Ezra Cornell, a gentleman of vast wealth, had endowed a college. He made a contract with the authorities of New York to convert his institution to one which would meet the requirements of the act of Congress and take the land scrip. He advanced several hundred thousand dollars, and in the meantime had the land located under his personal supervision in the best timber regions of the West. Only a part has been sold and that brought five or seven dollars an acre, simply because New York had a Cornell who was willing to advance tens of thousands while the lands were being located and held back for a greater price. Had our Legislature accepted the offers of Bowdoin and Waterville Colleges and let them take the land scrip, they would doubtless have found liberal gentlemen who would have advanced money while the policy of Mr. Cornell was being carried out for one of our own institutions. But even the generous Cornell did not escape slander and charges of fraud. A Democratic shyster (as he was shown to be), who got a seat in the New York Assembly, introduced an order containing graver charges than the preamble of the gentleman from Bangor, the aspiring and alert little Mr. Bass. An investigation followed, exonerating Mr. Cornell; but the wickedness of the charge after he had devoted years of time and tens of thousands of dollars to the institution so worried the high-minded old gentleman as to hasten his death. By pursuing the same or a similar cause, Wisconsin, Michigan and other Western states obtained a higher price. They could not have obtained more to have sold the scrip at the time it was sold in Maine. Locality favored them and a knowledge of the whereabouts of the most valuable lands was advantageous. The officials located the land, and waited the rise in price. Had the Legislature of Maine voted thousands of dollars more every year and sent an agent to locate the land, a larger fund would have resulted. But had this other policy been adopted, there would have been no end of the howl which the patriots and reformers of the Bass-Jordan order would have set up.

There is not a Republican who does not court the most searching investigation. The Speaker of the House by placing four Democrats of the seven members of the committee on the part of the House, has given the opposition an advantage seldom accorded a minority. The public only ask a candid investigation and a truthful report.

SOUTHERN WAR CLAIMS.

The proposition to admit the claims of all persons, disloyal as well as loyal, for damages sustained during the war, has given rise to a discussion which brings to light some interesting facts. For example, the following enactment is found to have been passed by the Virginia legislature, January 20, 1866:

An act to provide for recording the losses of property sustained by the operations of war during the late war.

1. That it shall be the duty of the clerks of the several county and corporation courts to keep a record of such papers relating to the loss of property during the late war as they may be required to do by this act. Any persons who have suffered losses by the operations of war since the 17th day of April, 1861, may make a statement of such losses, stating the kind and description of property, including negroes emancipated; at what time taken, damaged or destroyed; by the army of which belligerent, and in whatever manner by either army, and the amount of loss sustained, making the value of said property on the 1st of January, 1861, the standard of valuation, and offer the same, proved by the affidavit of one or more citizens, to the clerk of the county, or corporation in which the said property was taken, damaged or destroyed; who shall receive and record the same in a book kept for that purpose. The original papers shall be safely kept by the clerk, but they may be withdrawn at any time after they have been recorded. The affidavits may be taken by a justice of the peace, a notary public, or the clerk of the court in which the papers are recorded. In all such cases the clerk shall have the same fees, to be paid by the parties respectively, as he has for similar services in other cases, and in addition thereto, twenty-five cents, for taking affidavits.

2. This act shall be in force from its passage.

There are on the war claims committee of the house four Southern members, Messrs. Cabell of Virginia, Ellis of Louisiana, Caldwell of Alabama and Milliken of Kentucky. Cabell and Ellis served in the Confederate army throughout the war. Caldwell was a non-combatant and consequently an extremely violent enemy of the federal government. Milliken's reputation is not so well known, and the Congressional Directory throws no light on his record during the period of the war. It will be remembered that in the list of bills to pay for damages inflicted by the Union army, introduced in the house before the holiday recess, there is a bill appropriating about $200,000 for compensating certain "loyal" citizens of Loudon county, Virginia, for the destruction of their property under an order of General Sheridan. In this connection it is interesting to know that chapter 55 of the Acts of the Forty-second Congress, third session appropriated $61,821.13 to pay certain citizens of Loudon county, almost the identical persons named in the new bill, for live stock taken from them under the same order of Sheridan.

Republican National Convention. 1876.

The next Union Republican National Convention for the nomination of candidates for President and Vice-President of the United States will be held in the CITY OF CINCINNATI, on WEDNESDAY, THE FOURTEENTH DAY OF JUNE, 1876, at 12 o'clock noon, and will consist of delegates from each State equal to twice the number of its Senators and Representatives in Congress, and of two delegates from each organized Territory and the District of Columbia.

In calling the conventions for the election of delegates, the committees of the several States are recommended to invite all Republican electors, and all other voters, without regard to past political differences or previous party affiliations, who are opposed to reviving sectional issues, and desire to promote friendly feeling and permanent harmony throughout the country by maintaining and enforcing all the constitutional rights of every citizen, including the full and free exercise of the right of suffrage without intimidation and without fraud, who are in favor of the continued prosecution and punishment of all official dishonesty, and of an economical administration of the Government by honest, faithful and capable officers, who are in favor of making such reforms in government as experience may from time to time suggest, who are opposed to impairing the credit of the nation by depreciating any of its obligations, and in favor of sustaining in every way the national faith and financial honor, who hold that the common school system is the nursery of American liberty and should be maintained absolutely free from sectarian control, who believe that for the promotion of these ends the direction of the Government should continue to be confided to those who adhere to the principles of 1776, and support them as incorporated in the Constitution and the laws, and who are in favor of recognizing and strengthening the fundamental principle of National Unity in this Centennial Anniversary of the birth of the Republic.

Washington, January 13, 1876.

ONE OF THE "MARTYRS."

Among the "Martyrs" to whom the Hon Ben Hill referred in such glowing terms in his recent speech, that eminent Georgia Democrat, Robert Toombs, is conspicuous. He has recently been making a speech from which we quote to show how incomplete our Centennial harmony must be until the Nation hastens to pay its highest honors at Toombs' feet. There is instruction for loyal people even in the following sayings of such a rebel:

"We got a good many honest fellows into the first Legislature, but I will tell you how we got them there. I will tell you the truth. The newspapers won't tell you. We got them there by carrying the black vote by intimidation and bribery. All I helped to do it! I would have scorned the people if they had not done it! And I will buy them as long as they put beasts to go to the ballot box! No man should be given the elective franchise who has not the intelligence to use it properly. The rogue should not have it, for government is made to take care of him. Now, these miserable wretches—the Yankees—have injected five millions of savages into the stomach of our body politic, and the man who says he accepts negro suffrage, I say, accursed be he. I will accept everything; I will accept Grant and empire before I will accept such a Democrat! The poor, ignorant negro talk of him governing you and me! It takes the highest order of intellect to govern the people, and these poor wretches talk of governing us! Why, they can't perpetuate their own negro power. In the counties where they were in the majority they did not preserve their power and perpetuate their rule. My remedy helped us to break that up.

We carried Georgia with us by bribery and intimidation. I advised it and I will pay money for it! You all know it, but you'll say it. But I will say it, for I fear no man, and am prepared to render an account to none but the Great Judge, before whom I must appear in a few years, for my emoluments have thought my services to my country so great that they have done and the honor to exclude me from again serving my people. I contest that honor with our chief, Mr. Davis! I am just as good as he is, and he is no better than I am. I deny and that they shall place me beside him. I thank them for it. It is very few things that I have to thank them for, but I do thank them for that. I am entitled to the honor they thus dispensed, and I shall ask our representatives to demand it for me, for I fought for it, and I bought it, I am, I believe, the only living secessionist today in the State of Georgia. This State Constitution is a wretched thing, and robs the people. The largest county has the most representatives no matter whether it is full of gophers or men. That's what's the matter with Hannah, I don't want representation based on population alone. We never had it and it so in Georgia. It was always based upon population and territory, and if you have a convention I can make you a constitution by which the people will rule and the negro will never be heard of."

THE COLLEGE LANDS.

During the last campaign we published a full history of the circumstances connected with the sale of the Agricultural College land scrip, and on our first page to-day will be found an article from the Portland Press, giving a comprehensive review of the facts thus set forth. Those who want to know about the matter should read the article.

A POLITICAL REMINISCENCE.

The Augusta correspondent of the Portland Press, in comparing the readiness of Republicans to meet investigation with the contrary spirit displayed by the Democrats when in majority in this State, cites the following historical illustration:

"Speaking of investigation, and the readiness manifested by the Republicans to investigate anything which the Democratic leaders desire to bring to light, reminds one of the unwillingness of the Democrats to investigate frauds or alleged frauds charged upon them when in power. Here is a case. The Legislature of 1848 was Democratic. It had a United States Senator to elect. During several weeks the State Senate elected John W. Dana several times and the House gave Hannibal Hamlin a majority or large plurality. Then the law provided that the election must be made by each branch and not in convention after the first trial. The Senate refused to go into a caucus for a long time, but after a time, a compromise candidate was found in Hon. J. W. Bradbury of Augusta. The day came. The Senate promptly elected Mr. Bradbury, but in the Democratic ranks of the House there was trouble. On the first ballot Mr. Bradbury wanted ten or a dozen of an election, eleven Democrats voting for Hon. Bion Bradbury. The second ballot eight Democrats voted for Bion Bradbury, but the Whigs cast 53 votes for Mr. Evans, the free soilers voted for their candidate, and there were several scattering votes. On the third ballot, the whole number of votes being the same, Mr. Bradbury was elected by four or five majority, but Mr. Evans only had 47 votes, and one vote thrown for William Pitt Fessenden was not found in the return at all. At that time the voting was by ballot and not viva voce as now. This result was astonishing. The Democrats claimed that the Whigs secretly voted for Mr. Bradbury. This every Whig member most emphatically denied over his own name, stating the person he did vote for at each of the three ballots. Mr. Bradbury could not have been elected without the change. Directly after the election, every Whig member of the House, with all the free-soilers and independents, asked for an investigation, but under their strict party discipline, which ever characterized the Democratic party, it was refused by a strict party vote! We do not assert that there was any fraud in the ballot by which Mr. Bradbury was made United States Senator for six years, but a gentleman now dead, who was at that time and since, an active and influential Democrat, said: 'It was known to a few at the time that a Democratic member from Oxford hastily took the vote of a section in his ballot box and retired to the room which was in the vicinity of the present Judiciary room, at which place he arrived some time before the rest of the committee. Inasmuch as the Oxford patriot was soon after called to fill an office in Washington, some wicked Whig suspected that he took out seven of the Evans and Fessenden votes on his way to the place of counting, and replaced them with seven for Bradbury.' But with those rumors the Democrats denied investigation. Now how changed!"

LETTER FROM WASHINGTON.

IMPROVEMENT IN THE DISTRICT SCHOOLS—A NEW ATMOSPHERE AT THE CAPITAL—THE CORRESPONDENCE WITH SPAIN—THE DEMOCRATS AND THE CENTENNIAL—WOMAN SUFFRAGE—SUNSET COX—A BENEVOLENT REFORM.

[From an Occasional Correspondent.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30, 1876.

To the Editor of the Whig and Courier.

The present public school system of this District is one of the many beneficent sequences of the triumph of the National arms over the rebellion, and to-day it will compare favorably with that of almost any Northern or Western city of like size, in the number and character of its school houses, the qualification of teachers employed and in the proportional number of its beneficiaries. Prior to the war this city was essentially Southern in character and the "Mudsill," at the date of his invasion, found a few poorly accommodated and wretchedly equipped public schools, where such as chose could acquire the rudiments of an English education, but only under the most disheartening circumstances. As public sentiment was averse to anything having a likeness to Yankee institutions, attendance at them was not deemed respectable and no successful attempt, looking to a system for the education of the poor classes, was ever made. The church and other private or "pay" schools were almost exclusively patronized by the "Southern gentlemen," the charges being too onerous for the laboring whites, consequently their children, like the slaves, grew up uneducated. But the reverberation following the first discharge of rebel cannon on the Potomac awoke the residents of the capital city of the Nation from a long lethal lethargy to a mental activity that has kept steady pace with the multiplication of appliances for its development. With the incoming of the Free-State iconoclast the slave-pen and auction-block with all their concomitant vices and demoralization were supplanted by the school house with its elevating tendencies; and the impulse of that awakening, radiating from this point Southward, has served in some measure to dissipate the pall of ignorance and semi-barbarism that hung suspended like a deadly shadow over all the fair territory from Mason and Dixon's line to the Southern-most limits of the Republic, although its full fruition is far away in the future. How this work of a practical and Christianizing method of reconstruction has been antagonized and almost outlawed by the Ku-Klux-Klans of the South and adverse Democratic legislation are matters of history. But the word has gone forth and if the admonitions of our experience as a nation for the past twenty-five years are duly heeded, it will not return void.

THE SPANISH CORRESPONDENCE.

The publication of the information furnished the House agreeably to its resolution by President Grant relative to the positions assumed by this Government and Spain touching all points in dispute between them since the capture of the Virginius will not serve to decrease his popularity with that large class of reflecting people who hold that the peaceful adjustment of such matters by arbitration is always preferable to war, when it can be effected consistently with national honor. The correspondence submitted shows that while our demands have been courteously made the President has exhibited his characteristic resolution and pertinacity in urging upon Spain compliance with her treaty obligations toward us and by insisting upon a due observance of our international rights by that distracted Government, and his forbearance towards that wretched nation is partially if not wholly justified when its condition—rent asunder by internecine struggles and a hopeless colonial war—is considered.

THE FEMALE SUFFRAGISTS

met in convention here the present week. We have been similarly honored every winter for the past four or five years, and each year the converts have become more and more numerous. During the proceedings Fred Douglass fully identified himself with the movement, and they number many other men, prominent in public life, among their active friends and abettors. From a close observance of public opinion as reflected by its representatives here, for the last few years, I believe the current is setting more decidedly in their favor with each passing year, and the recent testimony of the Governor and other officials of Wyoming Territory as to the beneficial results of female suffrage there will doubtless add weight to their stereotyped pleas in its behalf. While many are skeptical as to its influence in purifying our politics to the extent claimed by its more visionary advocates, they contend that the discrimination is clearly arbitrary and unjust, that it is not founded in equity nor upon any principle of natural right; that their rallying cry "taxation without representation is tyranny," is just as valid now as it was one century ago, and finally, that as it cannot be accomplished at an earlier date the centennial year of our independence is the most appropriate time to invest the women of this country with all the rights, privileges and immunities pertaining to American citizenship.

THE CENTENNIAL AND JEFF. DAVIS.

The long agony of the Philadelphians and the adjacent "foreign" communities of New Jersey, who hope to benefit directly by the Centennial Exhibition is relieved by the favorable action of Congress toward it, and Representative Frye of Lewiston is credited with having wrought more effectually than any other one man in bringing about this liberal disposition among members of the House, by his activity and eloquent appeals. In this connection it is meet to just refer to the childish and spiteful action of Virginia's Democratic legislature towards that enterprise, in retaliation for the objections made by loyal men against the Democratic proposition—and let this be had in everlasting remembrance while singing our Centennial songs of reconciliation and oblivion for traitors—to reinvest Jefferson Davis, the central figure among the meanest ingrates and worst traitors that the combined ages of the world have produced, with the rights he forfeited by treason and aggravated a thousand fold by his fiendish torture and deliberate murder of disarmed patriots.

SUNSET COX.

Mr. Cox, in his philippics against that party which rescued the country from the parricidal hands of his political associates, usually stumbles against some one of Maine's delegation. His latest misfortune in that direction happened to him when he woke up Mr. Hale the other day, who immediately sat down on that frothy little acrobat.

GIRLS' REFORM SCHOOL.

The Senate Committee Thursday gave a hearing to a number of ladies, named as trustees in the bill pending before Congress for the establishment in this city of a "Girls' Reform School." The appeals were touching and convincing, and it is hoped that the necessary means may be provided. No job is concealed in this case under the specious mask of philanthropy, and every dollar invested in such institutions in all of our large cities, lightens the burdens in a ten fold degree, imposed in maintaining penal establishments, prosecuting criminals and in erecting gibbets, not taking into the account moral or hygienic considerations. Efforts were made in this direction some years ago, but failed because of the general indifference of those who by their professions were relied upon to thus give practical effect to the teachings of the poor outcast's Saviour; and though this attempt at organized effort fell through from lack of public recognition and supporters, these workers have toiled and labored in a silent way, and the good they have accomplished will only be revealed at the last day. Of such it is written: "they shall shine as the brightness of the firmament, and as the stars for ever and ever."

E. K. H.

The Presque Isle North Star, which bolted the nominees of a combined bolters' and Democratic county ticket last season before the Republican Convention had assembled, takes exception to our approval of the recent appointment of postmaster at Houlton. We understand that of the two competitors for the office one was a regular candidate on the Republican ticket and the other favored with the Democrats to secure its defeat. Between the two we have no hesitation in our preference for the former. The latter should look to his Democratic allies for recognition.

An exchange suggests that this would be a rather neat resolution to put in the National Democratic platform—that sentence of Hill's. It would appear in this wise:

Resolved, That the atrocities of Andersonville do not begin to compare with the atrocities of Elmira, of Camp Douglas, or of Fort Delaware. Of all the atrocities, both at Andersonville and Elmira, the Confederate Government stands acquitted from all responsibility and blame.

DENTAL CARD.

DR. J. A. BABCOCK desires to say to that class of sufferers who are afflicted with aching teeth that in almost every instance, the pain can be instantly relieved, and forthwith from three to five further painless treatments the tooth may be filled and permanently restored to health. In support of his assertion Dr. B. would say that in no single instance has he ever failed to save every aching tooth which he has attempted to save, and during the past four years there have been by actual count six hundred and thirty of them. However, defective teeth should never be neglected until they ache, but upon the first appearance of decay they should at once be properly, and so permanently, filled, with some suitable material—absolutely pure gold, being pre-eminently the best. Since 1871, Dr. Babcock has placed in such teeth more than three thousand gold fillings, and it is with much pride that he makes the statement that, to the best of his knowledge, but three fillings only out of that large number have proved defective.

BANGOR, ME.

The undersigned, after a vacation of nearly two years, finds himself once more at his old post of duty in the FRANKLIN HOUSE, which he established more than thirty years ago, and which has grown up under his administration as Landlord, to its present fair proportions and high reputation. Thoroughly refreshed and invigorated, and with more zeal than ever in the discharge of the duties of a landlord, he assumes the direction of this favorite business House which is now one of the best appointed Hotels in Maine.

The location of the Franklin House is exceedingly pleasant and healthy. It is abundantly supplied with all modern conveniences and comforts. It is close to the Post Office, and convenient to the business streets. MR. QUINBY, who has so long been connected with the establishment, will continue to fill the position of Chief Clerk.

My thousands of old friends whom I have known and entertained for the last thirty-five years, are cordially invited to visit the FRANKLIN HOUSE, and judge whether the grasp of the landlord's hand is not as warm, and cordial as it was before the frosts of many winters had begun to touch his locks. Verily "Richard's himself again."

MAINE NEWS.

THE STATE CAPITAL.

Action of the Legislature Tuesday—The Debate on Pike's Interest Bill—Hostility to the Appropriation for the State College—Various Matters of Interest.

AUGUSTA, Feb. 1, The principal doings of the Legislature to-day may be disposed of as follows:

Land Scrip Investigating Committee.

The following were joined on part of the senate to the House Committee on investigating the sale of the lands or scrip granted by Congress to this State for a College of Agriculture and the Mechanic Arts: Messrs. Sawtelle of Oxford, Wheelwright of Penobscot, and Dunworth of Aroostook. The committee will enter upon their duties at once.

Various Matters.

Orders of inquiry were referred relating to amending the laws concerning descent of estates, evidence in criminal cases; assessment and collection of highway taxes in unorganized places; repealing the law relating to control of armories for military companies in the State.

A remonstrance against discontinuing Medical Central between Leeds and Turner's Junction, was presented.

A bill was reported relating to the settlement of paupers.

The Aroostook Log Driving Co. bill was indefinitely postponed in the House, and then tabled at the instance of Mr. Bass of Bangor.

The House gave a passage in concurrence to the resolve relating to compulsory pilotage.

Debate on the Interest Bill.

The interest bill was taken up in the House, and Mr. Haynes of Augusta made a long argument in opposition to its passage, and in reply to Mr. Pike. He said that the charge made by the gentleman from Calais, that the act repealing the usury law had been done surreptitiously was incorrect, and then proceeded to state how it was done and the action taken by the Legislature. He refuted the charge that the savings banks were used by speculators and not for the savings of the poor men, and showed by quoting from the Bank Examiner's report, that the many of depositors were people of limited means. He showed that in the fixing of a lower rate of dividends the banks had only what they could not loan at 6 per cent. Mr. Pike had remarked with severity upon the large surpluses of the Portland banks. He, (Haynes) in answer, would ask, were not these surpluses the result of earnings laid by? Has not the gentleman (Pike) a mill built by his surplus profits? Generally the rate of interest is less than the profits made by business men. Those who know what they are about will not pay more interest than they make from their business. Sometimes they pay more, but the losses are exceptional. Persons who invest money in bank stock at 6 per cent expect to have it double in about eleven years. Such men were not fond of usury laws; but those who doubled their money in half that time by the profits on ice, ice-breaking, or any other business, are not thus criticised.

Mr. Haynes gave extracts from Bentham's work on usury, and in this connection remarked that one gentleman who opposed the bill would advocate 8 per cent. as the rate of interest to be fixed by law. He regarded that the advocates of restricting the price of money have never been able to fix the natural rate of interest. Mr. Haynes thought the law could not control the matter. It is quite as well to attempt to fix the price of flour or corn as that of money. In all countries there has been a legal rate and a market rate. He referred to the usury law in England, where fixed rate for money became a necessity. So in Maine when the law peremptorily fixes the rate of interest at 6 per cent. Maine capital will go abroad where it can get greater interest outside. Money is a commodity and will seek the best market. He took issue with Pike's assertion that the statutes treated the people as children. The statutes treated minors, paupers and criminals as children. The old law fixing the rate of interest was the only statute pointing in that direction. Reference was made by Mr. Haynes to the usury laws of the past.

Mr. Haynes was followed by Mr. Powers of Houlton, who also spoke against the passage of the bill. He maintained that there had been no complaint against the present law since it had been on the statute book. The gentleman from Calais had stated that the result of the present law was to increase the rate of interest, and yet on the very day that gentleman made his speech money was quoted in Boston at less than 6 per cent. The old law, Mr. Pike had said, was a mill rebuke to usurers. It was mild enough because it was constantly violated, nearly always so in money markets. But the old law is unjust because 25 per cent. could be made in three or four years, because any poor debtor could go into court and say that in any contract where there was the usurious interest exchanged, the creditor shall be considered legally when he comes into court and proves to the contrary. The fixing of the rate of interest has a tendency to increase the rate. The lender will charge for the risk he takes. Third parties will step between the borrower and the lender to secure higher rates than those fixed by law. They will charge for their services and the borrower will have to pay this charge.

Mr. Powers took issue with Mr. Pike on several points. The truth is, he said, not that money is high and discounts hard to get as in 1857, but business is stagnant, and men will not take money out of the banks to do business with. He referred to his own section. The rates ruled higher in the new counties than in old ones. The Houlton Savings Bank let money at 8 per cent. Fort Fairfield recently made a loan at rates ranging from 8 to 12 per cent. It could not have obtained money at that rate six or eight years ago.

Mr. Lynch of Machias next followed. He had made extensive inquiries, and the universal answer is that no man can pay more than six per cent. He held that the recent law had increased the rate of interest in Maine. In his own locality there were men who had a surplus of money which they loaned to safe business men at 6 per cent. A Savings Bank was instituted and into that bank went all the money in that vicinity. That bank regulates the rate of interest, and has fixed the rate at 8 per cent. The result has been disastrous. He further favored Pike's bill, when it was tabled for further consideration to-morrow.

The Mill Tax Question.

Keegan tried again to have the House rescind the order asking for the opinion of the Supreme Court on the constitutionality of the School Mill Tax law, but he failed, the House voting 71 to 36 not to do any such thing.

Agricultural College.

The resolve appropriating $23,550 for the State Agricultural College was read over in the Senate, and tabled on motion of Mr. Haskell (Dem.) of Cumberland. It will meet with a hot opposition.

A Road Appropriation.

A resolve in favor of appropriating $1000 in favor of the town of Wellington, for building a road from Athens to Abbot Village was reported.

The Little Giant.

A resolve was reported appropriating $337 for the purchase of the "Little Giant" chemical Fire Engine.

Business Corporations.

The general law for the organization of business corporations was given a passage in the Senate.

Killed.

The Senate indefinitely postponed the resolve amending the law relating to the returns of plantations.

Horse Ferry Co.

A bill was presented to incorporate the Deer Isle and Sedgwick Horse Ferry Co.

Rockland City Charter.

Petitions were presented to amend the city charter of Rockland so that the common council shall be abolished, and all the duties imposed on that branch shall be performed by the Mayor and Aldermen. A remonstrance against the same was also presented.

Foreign Insurance Companies.

The House gave a passage to the bill relating to foreign insurance companies after amending it by striking out the section that the act shall take effect when approved by the Governor.

Finally Passed.

The following have received a final passage in both branches and been sent to the Governor for his approval:

An act amendatory of and additional to chap. 30 of the revised statutes in relation to deceased caribou; an act to authorize Webster McFarland to build a fish weir in the tide waters at Brooklin; an act to amend an act relating to the city schools of Bangor, approved Feb. 18, 1875; an act to authorize the Lincoln Company and the Pepperell Manufacturing Company, to connect two piers of their wharves in Saco river; an act to authorize Gilbert H. Manchester et als. to build and maintain fish weirs in Sutton's Island sound, an act to protect black bass and salmon in Moose pond and its tributaries, and Sebastieook river; an act to amend sec. 5 of chap 78 of the revised statutes, relating to election returns, an act relating to school money belonging to school district No. 4 in Biddeford; an act to encourage and protect the breeding of trout in Little Pond and Little Pond brook in Fryeburg Academy Grant; an act to amend sec. 3 chap. 91 of the revised statutes relating to mortgages of personal property; an act for the protection of pike and pickerel in the Berry, Dexter and Wilson ponds in the towns of Wayne, Winthrop and Monmouth.

The State's Islands.

The House passed the resolve authorizing the sale of the Islands belonging to the State.

BIG LOAD. One correspondent Nopier writes that he thinks Lincoln is growing too much over his big load of bark, and he proposes to squelch them with the following. Last Monday Geo. W. Wing, loaded with a pair of bark weighing eleven hundred each, a load of bark measuring 15 feet, a distance of nine miles from the vicinity of Matthews Ridge.

CRUELTY OF AN OLD MAN. In the Buckspore Alms House there have been two old men, about 70 years of age, named Ryder and Brown. These old gentlemen seemed to agree in their every day life, but a short time since an unexplainable fit possessed Ryder, and he began to heat some water on the stove. After he thought it was hot, he took a two quart dish full, with the intention of scalding Brown, he even walked up behind him, but the boiling the water was not hot enough he divided until it boiled in the kettle, and then pouring the dish, poured the, same on the bald head of Mr. Brown, who was badly scalded about his face and head. Ryder was then carried before a judge, and after an examination he was removed to Ellsworth jail to await trial. No reason can be assigned for Ryder's curious actions. Mr. Brown is in a very dangerous condition.

THE OLD FOLKS' SOCIABLE. The best evidence of the popularity of the Old Folks' Sociables was afforded by the large gathering in up to of bad weather last evening, at the close of the second series of these dances. Where they have all been so enjoyable it would be hard to make distinctions, but the assembly last evening was certainly one of the most pleasant of all. The liberal attendance of the older people has added a special charm to these gatherings, and it would be difficult to say whether the youngest or oldest have enjoyed them most. Such social reunions without distinction of age have proved a great success, and as the long winter season will last for some time yet, there is an earnest desire that the Sociables may be continued. We certainly ought to make the most of our advantage in commanding such music as that furnished by Andrews' Orchestra.

THE UNIVERSALIST CHURCH.

Installation of Rev. E. W. Preble.

The installation of Rev. E. W. Preble, as Pastor of the Universalist church, took place last evening. The exercises opened with a voluntary on the organ by Mrs. Dr. Jewell. The invocation was offered by Rev. Mr. Grant of Waterville. The choir, consisting of Mrs. Crowell and Jordan, and Messrs. Holbrook and Crowell, then sang in a most excellent manner the anthem "I will Praise Thee, O Lord, and will Glorify Thy Name for ever More." Rev. N. C. Hodgdon read that portion of the Scripture in which Paul delivers his charge to the churches. An anthem was sung by the choir. Rev. Mr. Gooderough of Belfast, offered the installation prayer, which was full of fervor and power. After another hymn, Rev. Mr. Nutting of Bath, began the delivery of a sermon upon the text, "Behold Him, He Loved Him." The subject was God's Love. The humanity of this love as manifested in Christ was dearer far to the people than its divinity. He spoke of the enduring nature of human sympathy. All that will live of our religion is its love, sympathy and charity. Christianity does not consist in belief or theory, but in loyalty to truth, purity and love. The great want of the nineteenth century is pure Christianity, as illustrated by the elevation of our natures, and the cultivation of spirit of dominion brotherhood. Theories may fail, but love will endure forever.

The address was a very able one and received many hearty comments from the large audience present.

Rev. A. Battles in the charge and delivery of the Scriptures, said to the Pastor: Your work here is the upholding of God's Kingdom on the Earth. The world is strown with flowers of humanity, cultivate them, break through the crust of human selfishness. Speak the truth as if you believe it yourself. The teacher must be in advance of the hearer. Be yourself—your best self. Remember the era in which we will live—an era of science and thought. Teach the spirit of the Scriptures through the light of all the sciences and researches of the age. Preach the truth boldly; preach Christ and his Spirit. In presenting the Scriptures be exhorted the Pastor to be to the people the grandeur of David, the fire of the Prophets, the love of John and logic of Paul. He offered a few words of encouragement; he should never be discouraged, for God only knows when the fruitful seed falls. Rev. Arthur May Knapp tendered the right hand of fellowship. His remarks were well suited to the occasion, and were listened to with marked attention throughout. The address of the Society was delivered by Rev. Mr. Snow, of Auburn. In which he told the people they must care for the temporal wants of their preacher. He should be encouraged by being shown that his efforts are appreciated. He is not perfect, but bear kindly with his faults. He urged the people to be harmonious, and closed by speaking of the exhaustive nature of the minister's profession. The choir chanted the Lord's prayer, and the services were closed with a benediction by the pastor.

A large and appreciative audience were in attendance throughout the long exercises. There will be preaching at 10.30 o'clock this morning.

City Affairs.

The following business was transacted by the Municipal Officers at a special meeting held Tuesday afternoon and by the City Council at the regular monthly meeting in the evening.

IN BOARD OF MUNICIPAL OFFICERS.

A hearing of the parties interested for construction of sewer in Hazel Lane was had before said Board and John Varney, Esq., made some remarks in behalf of the residents in said Lane, remonstrating against the assessments, as the sewer was constructed upon the petition of the Health Officer and after due consideration the report of the Committee on Assessments, was amended by reducing the amount of each assessment one half and as amended finally established.

A petition was presented by J. M. Gerow for license to place a portable steam engine in his store in Pickering Square and the usual notice was ordered and Thursday February 17th, next, assigned for a hearing of all persons interested or opposed to the granting of the same.

An order for a sewer on Penn street to connect with the sewer on State street was taken from the table and passed.

IN BOARD OF ALDERMEN.

Petition of James M. Davis for damages received by falling through a scultle hole at the burning of B. N. Thomas' carriage shop, referred to Committee on Accounts and Claims and the City Solicitor.

Resolution accepting the location of the proposed extension of the B. & P. R. R., towards Moosehead Lake, as made by M. F. Hilton. Accepted and finally passed.

The following reports of Committees with accompanying orders were laid on the table: On petition of Morse & Co., and C. B. Brown for payment of their claims for labor and material furnished on City Building on Court street; on petition of C. D. Cass for payment by the city of money expended by him July 4, 1873 for entertainment of the "Capitol Guards."

Report of the Committee on removal of earth from Union street to Davenport Square, accepted, and the order accompanying the same passed. Report of Committee on accounts and claims accepted and order for payment accompanying the same passed.

IN COMMON COUNCIL.

The lower Board took concurrent action in all above, with the exception of the order for the removal of earth from Union street to Davenport Square, which was laid on the table.

From East Corinth.

Our correspondent from East Corinth sends us the following. Notwithstanding a severe storm, the parlor concert announced to be given by the ladies of the Baptist Society, Friday evening, 19th inst., was fully attended and highly enjoyed by all. The concert was given at the residence of the Rev. Mr. Gurney; this fact of itself was a guarantee in advance of its being a grand musical treat, as the Rev. gentleman is a firm believer in the refining and elevating influences of good music and is always ready with his voice, to do his part in making it so. The entertainment opened with the piano trio, "Overture to Tarresall," by Misses Ball, Fuller and Gurney, which was rendered in a manner that showed both the skill and taste of the performers. The next was a duett, "Let us Gather Wild Flowers," by Mrs. Wilder and Miss Dexter and it received loud applause. Quartette "In the Old Church Tower," by Misses Fuller and Dexter and Messrs. Gurney and ——. The singing of this piece perfectly delighted the audience, who attested their appreciation by repeated applause. Songs, "Would You Leave Your Home Robin?" "When the Tide Comes In," and "Pass Under the Rods," were sung by Mrs. DeWitt of Dexter. She has a really fine voice and had a good opportunity of displaying its sweetness and power on this occasion. A duett, "Robin Rough and Gaffer Green" was next sung by Messrs. —— and Gurney. The next, a song, "Katy's Letter," by Miss Dexter, was quite pretty. Miss Mattie Fuller performed a solo, "Tarantella," on the piano, which was pleasing to the audience. A solo, duett and quartette, "The Beautiful Gate," by Misses Fuller, Dexter and Ball, and Mrs. DeWitt; a solo and chorus, "Marseilles Hymn," by Mr. Gurney and chorus; a piano duett from Mozart by Misses Fuller and Gurney, and a duett, "What are the Wild Waves Saying?" by Miss Fuller and Mrs. DeWitt were all very creditable to the performers. The exercises were varied by select readings. Mrs. Edmonds read "The District School" with fine effect. The ladies of this society are deserving of great praise for their efforts and success in these higher duties of entertainments.

There is much religious interest manifested at the series of union prayer meetings in this place under the joint efforts of the Rev. Mr. Gurney, Baptist, Rev. Mr. Pitts, Free Baptist, and the Rev. Mr. Bragdon, Methodist. There seems to be a union of feeling and a union of action, which promises the most happy results. The interest dates from the week of prayer. The meetings have been continued ever since. Quite a number have signified their determination to lead a better life and thus the work goes on.

DAVID BARKER'S SONGS.

We have received the published volume containing selections from the poetical works of the late David Barker, widely known for so many years as the "Bard of Exeter," and many of the kindly songs which were first given to the public through our columns, come to us like familiar voices from the past. The selections have been carefully made by the Poet's brother, Hon. Lewis Barker, who has displayed both taste and affectionate regard in preserving the best of the author's work. The volume, which is neatly printed by S. S. Smith & Son, of this city, contains an excellent heliotype portrait of the late David Barker, and an appreciative biographical sketch by Judge John E. Godfrey. A piece of rare merit, addressed to Mr. Barker by Edward Wiggin, Jr., of Fort Kent, and which first appeared in this paper, is given a place in the volume in accordance with an expressed desire of the former, and forms a fitting introduction to the work. The most elaborate of the poems, entitled "My First Courtship," was read by the author with great acceptance before audiences in various parts of the State and is perhaps the one which gives fullest play to the versatility of the writer. The selections comprise poems upon Masonic, Religious, Moral and Sentimental, Patriotic and Miscellaneous subjects, and make a volume of 212 pages. Among them many which have attained a wide celebrity will be noted, such as "The Empty Sleeve," "The Old Ship of State," "The Under Dog in the Fight," "The Bedded Grandsire," "The Covered Bridge," "Old Willey," and the charming little sonnet "My Child's Origin," whose appearance in the New York Evening Post first brought the modest gifts of the writer before the public. The poems throughout are invested with a rare spirit of homelikeness and kindly humor, while some of the patriotic songs are among the most stirring and eloquent in the literature of the late civil conflict.

The work is sold by subscription only, and for the benefit of the widow and children of the author, whose neglect Lewis A. Barker, Esq., has undertaken the care of bringing out the book. It should meet with a large sale, especially in this locality, where so many of the poems first appeared in print, where the modest author had so many friends while living, and where, after battling patiently with the Grim Messenger, he laid him down to rest.

OUR FOOD FISHERIES.

To the Editor of the Whig and Courier:

"The fish of the Penobscot in the Kenebec are worth, is worth more than all the lumber on either of those rivers." There is a point in the existence of every food product, when to save it from extermination, it is necessary to subject it to the laws of science, and exact obedience. Increase of population demands an increased product. Every known article of human food, animal or vegetable, has been made subservient to this law. This period has now arrived with our fisheries. The product of the Kennebec and Penobscot is limited by certain fixed laws known among farmers in their system of "rotation of crops." Trees are subject to this law. The trees of the Black Growth send roots far down into the earth and extract the alkali, in which their leaves or spires are rich; these leaves or spires or sprays, as they fall in the annual changes, are deposited upon the surface of the ground and prepare it for the next crop of the hard wood or White Growth. So far back into the evergreen forest, and cut away the acre of its growth, and the succeeding crop will be of trees that require the alkalies on the surface of the earth, and whose leaves are barren of and those wood is rich in the alkalies. A hard wood or White Growth. Have not our lumbermen noted this? The evergreen lumber of our forests has a limit. The anadromous fishes of our rivers have no limit as to time, unless wantonly, selfishly, ignorantly expelled by obstructions, or polsohs. Upon the preservation of our anadromous fishes depends our coast fisheries. This is what we mean in our remark that has given such offence.

Our Pine and Spruce lands will not always yield pine and spruce. The fish crop of our rivers is sure, coeval with the existence of our population, if we follow out and avail ourselves of the laws Nature has taught us. The food that brings the ocean fishes to our coast, to our very doors, if we will permit it, is the young of the anadromous fishes hatched in our rivers; destroy the latter and the ocean fishes will seek their food on other shores. If we will permit, our fish crop will be for all future time. But lumber crop has a limit.

Matrimonial Items.

"To see and all—Are you suffering from a cough, cold, asthma, bronchitis, or any of the various pulmonary troubles, that so often end in consumption? If so, use Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry. Old and Tried, and acknowledged remedy. This is no quack preparation, but is regularly prescribed by the medical faculty. Manufactured only by A. B. Wilson, Chemist, Boston. Sold by all druggists. sod1w feb2

The climate of New England is extremely trying to weak lungs, and often people are compelled, by its rigors, to seek a warmer clime or go down to the grave with consumption. Adamson's Botanic Cough Balsam strengthens and heals weak lungs and tempers the climate to all.

Many toilet soaps are valued for their delicate perfume and beautiful appearance. These qualities should rather warn the people against them, as the oils and alkalies which produce these effects, also produce many of the prevailing skin diseases. To heal the diseases so contracted, or to avoid them, use the "Forest Tar Soap," made from "Forest Tar" and the purest materials. For Salt Rheum and Chapped Hands it is invaluable. The best shaving soap in the market. Ask your druggist for it and the "Forest Tar Book," or send 8 cents to the Forest Tar Co., Portland, Me., for a sample box.

CONSUMPTIVES—TAKE NOTICE.—Every moment of delay makes your case more hopeless, and much depends on the judicious choice of a remedy. The amount of testimony in favor of Dr. Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, as a cure for consumption, far exceeds all that can be brought to support the pretensions of any other medicine. See Dr. Schenck's Almanac, containing the certificates of many persons of the highest respectability, who have been restored to health, after being pronounced incurable by physicians of acknowledged ability. Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup alone has cured many, as these evidences will show; but the cure is often promoted by the employment of two other remedies which Dr. Schenck provides for the purpose. These additional remedies are Schenck's Sea Weed Tonic and Mandrake Pills. By the timely use of these medicines, according to directions, Dr. Schenck certifies that most any case of Consumption may be cured. Dr. Schenck is professionally at his principal office, Corner Sixth and Arch Sts., Philadelphia, every Monday, where all letters for advice must be addressed.
